Cherry Creek School Districts CardBoard Challenge in Association with Cherry Creek Schools Foundation Cardboard Challenge is a celebration of imagination and creativity. Students turn their dreams into reality with nothing but cardboard and other recycled materials.

The annual Cardboard Challenge is part of the Global cardboard Challenge, an international movement to engage children in creative play. It was inspired by Nirvan Mullick's 2011 short film "Caine's Arcade," about 9-year old Caine Monroy, who spent his summer vacation building an elaborate cardboard arcade.

“The success of the Cardboard Challenge is evidence of our students' limitless capacity to create, to use their imagination and ingenuity to bring their ideas to life”, said Jill Henden, executive director of the Cherry Creek Schools foundation. “It also demonstrates the importance of supporting the district's innovation initiatives and STEM education programs, which are helping to prepare our students for success in our ever-changing world.
